On the tender skin of chafing infants, poslam may be used with soothing and beneficial effects. It is applied externally, and its remarkable healing powers begin at once.

All skin diseases, including eczema, nettle, herpes, rash, tetter, etc., yield immediately to poslam. Occasional applications, in small quantities, will quickly banish pimples, hives, blackheads, blotches, and will relieve itching, itching feet, scaly scalp, humors, etc. A special 50-cent package is prepared for those who use poslam for these minor skin troubles. (Special to The Times-Dispatch.) RALEIGH, N. C., June 5.—The State Board of Education has granted an option on the Angola Bay Swamp lands in Pender and Duplin counties to John A. 'AUNT' HESTER NOW 112 YEARS OF AGE

She Is Still Able to Hand Out Vigorous Advice to Girls.

(Special to The Times-Dispatch.) CAPE CHARLES, VA., June 5.—Mrs. Hester Cordrey, of Delmar, 112 years of age, who is visiting relatives near here, gave advice to the present day girl. "If girls of these years would do more work and think less of their parlor they would be more healthy and live longer," is the opinion of "Aunt" Hester. "It would be considered scandalous for a young woman to think of such things as 'peach basket' hats and the 'accordion skirts' in my early days," said Mrs. Cordrey indignantly.

Mrs. Cordrey lives alone in the house she built away back in the sixties. This is her preference, for many times grandchildren have tried to get her to make her home with them.

Even now she is heartier than most women half her age, and does much of the work she advises her present day girls to do.

Besides all the housework, "Aunt" Hester may be seen at all seasons working her vegetable garden, from which she derives a comfortable income.

"When I was a little girl I used to go out and work on the farm like a man," she relates. "Many days I have plowed in the field all day and then have done my chores and milked seven cows. There were only two boys in our family, and in those days girls did not think it a disgrace to work to save their extra labor."

To-day Mrs. Cordrey's health is good and her sight not the least impaired.

Born February 12, 1797, nine miles east of her present home, "Aunt" Hester was one of fifteen children. She is the mother of but one, but that child in turn became the mother of fifteen children.

When she was fourteen years old her mother died and left the thirteen girls of the family to help their father work the farm.

Two brothers went through the War of 1812 without injury.

She was married twice. The first husband, John Hester, died after seven years. The second, Eliza Cordrey, father of her only child, died in 1861. She then built the home she still occupies, and has made but very few trips away from it.

Dr. Snyder delivered his message through an interpretation of several great characters in Shakespeare, and without making any application himself of what he found in them. His subject was announced as "A Company of Noble Ladies."

The day closed with a reception in the parlors of Sweet Briar House, and an informal dance in the refectory.
